

DESIGNATE PHILADELPHIA-ALLENTOWN-MORRISVILLE AREA AS A "CRITICAL DEFENSE" LOCATION, COMING UNDER FEDERAL RENT CONTROLS IF NEW BILL PASSES

Committee Points Out, However, Areas Only Under Consideration May Not Fit Standards Set Up in Proposed New Law — If Approved, Would Give Landlords Who Failed to Raise Rent Above Pre-World War II Level the Right to Boost Such 20%.

(By I. N. S.)

WASHINGTON, June 16 — Senate Banking Committee records showed today that defense officials have designated the Philadelphia-Allentown-Morrisville Trenton area as a "critical defense" location which will come under federal rent controls if the committee's new rent bill becomes law. The four communities were among a list of 120 designated "critical defense areas" by the group. A committee staff member stressed, however, that the areas are only under consideration and that they might not fit the standards set up in the proposed new law.

However, under terms of the committee-approved rent control extension bill, landlords may increase their rentals 20 per cent above the 1942 base period.

If approved by Congress and signed by President Truman, the bill would give landlords who failed to raise their rates above the pre-World War II level the right to boost rentals a full 20 per cent.

For those who took advantage or a 15 per cent boost approved by Congress several years ago, the added tariff will amount to only five per cent.

The bill continues the "local option" decontrol provisions of the present rent law. Backers of the measure said that even if the Trenton-Morrisville area is decontrolled, rent lids would be imposed immediately by the secretary of defense and the defense mobilization on the area since it was designated as a "critical defense" area as of last May 31.

It was emphasized, however, that all controlled areas would feel the 20 per cent increase, no matter what their status as a critical defense area or how rent control was retained.

Government officials said the increase would mean rent increases for most of the 7,000,000 housing units still under ceilings in about 300 communities. The plan was a compromise sponsored by Sens. Burnet R. Maybank (D., South Carolina) and Irving M. Ives (R., New York).

Completing action on the rent section of proposed new controls legislation, the committee ditched President Truman's request for unlimited authority to put ceilings on any uncontrolled property, including commercial rents.

The milder extension was approved less than 24 hours after the president appealed to the nation to back his hand in a fight for tough new controls.

Landlords would, however, be able to retain any "hardship" rent increases allowed since 1942 for capital improvements or tax hikes. These would be in addition to the 20 per cent.

The committee bill also permits tenants to recover triple damages for illegal evictions or rent overcharges, but provides no jail penalties and lifts restrictions on housing credit and use of building materials for housing automatically in "critical defense areas."

At present, this is done only at the discretion of federal authorities.

THROUGH COURT ROOM FOR A R. R. HEARING

Reading Company Seeking to Substitute Buses for Trains

PROTEST FROM CAMP

DOYLESTOWN, June 16 — Between 50 and 60 persons thronged a court room here on Wednesday at a hearing in which the Reading Company is seeking the abandonment of the passenger service between Haboro and New Hope and to substitute bus service.

Declaring that not one person came to him in protest, Dr. John A. Flood, of New Hope, chief Burgess, testifying here, before Public Utilities Commission Examiner H. Lieberman, concerning the discontinuance of passenger service on the Reading Railroad's New Hope branch, said: "I couldn't get any action from the people in New Hope nor could the councilmen."

E. D. Osterhout, Reading Company passenger traffic manager, electrified the men and women when he testified: "If the bus business is no better than the present passenger train business no company could operate a bus line more than a year, or would, because it would be a losing proposition."

The Reading Railroad official was loudly booed when he said that if buses couldn't travel neither could trains.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Former Defense Secretary Johnson told the Senate committee investigating General MacArthur's dismissal that he had considered the State Department's 1949 China White Paper condemning the Nationalist regime "politically unwise" and had done his utmost to prevent its release. General MacArthur, continuing his Texas lecture tour, renewed his criticisms of the State Department.

The National Security Council, headed by President Truman, suspended for ninety days operation of the ban, recently adopted by Congress, on United States aid to those nations exporting strategic materials to the Soviet bloc. The Council declared that the ban would do harm to this country's security interests, but emphasized at the same time that Washington was not satisfied that recipients of United States aid were doing all they might to control their trade with the Communists.

In Korea the enemy resisted stubbornly in the east in an effort to prevent United Nations forces from reaching the short line of the peninsula extending from Pyongyang and Kumhwa to the Sea of Japan at Wonsan. The Communists continued to retreat along the rest of the front.

Communist forces moved up reinforcements toward the Korean front today and the top American field commander warned that a new Red offensive may be expected.

Lt. Gen. James A. VanFleet, commander of the International Eighth Army, told newsmen in a frontline conference that a "third round" in the Red spring offensive apparently is imminent.

VanFleet stated that the fall of the enemy "iron triangle" supply and staging area in central Korea was "a great loss" to the Communists but added that they have "the capability" of launching another attack.

The American General said that the Communist leaders may be planning to commit reserves which have not yet been used.

During a stopover at the First Marine Division command post, Van Fleet declared that the objective of the Communist forces is still "to drive us into the sea."

INFLATION NOT LICKED

The most foolish mistake that can be made about inflation is one which a great many Americans are making right this minute.

It is to think that inflation and high prices are the same thing.

They aren't. While it is true that, IN THE LONG RUN, inflation means rising prices, at any given moment in the cycle prices may fall while inflation continues.

THAT'S WHAT IS GOING ON RIGHT NOW!

The Macy-Gimbel battle in New York City over price cuts is only part of a larger picture. For example, television-set prices have been dropping steadily for several months. The same is true of a good deal of other kinds of electrical equipment. Rumors and signs of perhaps large-scale price slashes in many other lines are filling the air.

BUT THIS DOESN'T MEAN INFLATION IS LICKED!

The price reductions at this time have no connection with inflation. They are the result of two quite independent forces — first, over-production; second, an informal "buyers' strike."

A year ago, when the Korean War started, the Truman Administration warned against a period of great scarcity. Manufacturers pretty much all did the same thing — hastily pushed production up to prepare for these threatened shortages. They built up big inventories. Meanwhile, with prices shoved up as a direct result of President Truman's statements, and uncontrolled because he refused to move in and freeze them, the buying public decided it was being "gouged," and it stopped buying.

Just where the situation comes out remains to be seen.

Somebody may be forced to take a heavy loss. Quite likely, the end effect will be for goods to be moved at less than cost, with the difference being made up out of taxes.

Announcement Made To Men of Draft Age

An important announcement was made today by Sgt. Al Catoggio of the Bristol Recruiting Station to those men of draft age who fall in one of the two following categories: (1) Those men who have received notice to report for pre-induction physical examination, and (2) Those men who have undergone pre-induction physical examination and have been found mentally and physically fit for military service. Provided these men have not received notice to report for induction into the service they may at this time be enlisted into either the U. S. Army or U. S. Air Force. Furthermore these men will be extended all the benefits of a regular enlistment.

Sgt. Catoggio urges the men who are in the above categories to take advantage of the opportunities afforded them by a regular enlistment. Since these men will be inducted into the service in the very near future it would be prudent for them to reflect upon the advantages of a regular enlistment as opposed to the status of a drafted man. If there are any questions or more information is desired please write to the Bristol Recruiting Station, Pond and Mulberry streets, Bristol; or phone Bristol 811.

Hungry!

The deepest hunger of the human heart is the hunger for God's love. When the Psalm writer exclaimed, "As the heart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after Thee, O God," (Psalm 42) he expressed his inner desire for God's love.

There is only one way in which a man can come to the full assurance of God's love, and that is to know God as He has revealed Himself in the Gospel of His Son.

The God of love is the God who "so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." (John 3, 16).

Have you been searching for the assurance of God's love? That assurance can be yours through faith in the Christ of the Christian Gospel. "O taste and see that the Lord is good; blessed is the man that trusteth in Him." (Psalm 34, 8).

who said she had one child using the train now to go to school and expected two more to use it next year, remarked: "I always feel perfectly safe with my children on a train, but not on a bus."

For the Reading Railroad Company, E. D. Osterhout, passenger traffic manager since 1925, said the Reading Railroad Company runs five trip trains between Hothoro and New Hope, and one round trip between Hothoro and Ivyland, or 12 trains Mondays to Fridays. On Saturdays there are three round trips or six trains.

"There has been a decided decline in passenger patronage, with a loss of about two-thirds within a period of five years. Checks reveal that passenger travel has fallen off from 381 in January, 1947, to 126, in May, this year.

"Saturday business has fallen off to 98 passengers in May, or 36 per cent of what it was in January, 1947.

"In many cases there were no more passengers than could be carried in a small automobile and there were fewer passengers than represented the three-man train crew.

"Comfortable, modern type buses will be used with 23 parlor type seats and the same connections with electric trains at Hothoro will be preserved," said the official.

Dr. Flood, who asked "Is this the beginning of the abandonment of an institution that means so much to New Hope?" said: "I know there are a few people who do not have cars and use the trains."

Councilman Walter S. Bair, of New Hope, who said the railroad into New Hope is one of the lifelines, emphasized that it "looked as if the Reading Company was trying to get rid of the bad and keep the good."

Thomas L. Cole, Jr., Bridge Valley, a real estate salesman, who has desided there six years, said:

"Quite a few residents favor the bus instead of the train because the railroad stations are always in the outlying areas.

"The York Road Improvement Association has wanted bus service on York road for years. Ninety per cent of the residents of Jamison Hartsville and Furlong would prefer a bus."

Mrs. A. Conard Myers, Buckingham Valley, asked whether it wouldn't be more economical to operate a different type engine than a Diesel, which, she explained, were used only on hard grades in the West.

Sallie Foster Faust, of Langhorne, who is a housekeeper at Montessori School, said the employees and children would be seriously inconvenienced.

Oscar L. Eastburn, of Montessori School, said he and his wife used the train and that they have noticed many other people travel on it.

Carl H. Wasser, Philadelphia, Montessori School bookkeeper, testified bus service would be most inconvenient. "The proposed bus route is not satisfactory to the operation of the camp."

"The staff, parents and kitchen help number about 35 or 40 personnel. It will be 1½ miles to the nearest bus stop."

Walter D. Paist, Berkley Heights, N. J., a son of Anna W. Paist, founder of the school, said the school has about 50 students, five teachers and 15 employees.

Inflation Not Licked

That has become a standard operation under the Truman regime.

BUT INFLATION CONTINUES!

Inflation simply means the loss of the dollar's value. Depending on how you measure it, the dollar is down two-thirds to three-fourths or more of what it was worth when the New Deal, back in 1933.

At that time you could take a paper dollar to any bank in the country, and swap it for an amount of gold which you could spend for a dollar's worth of goods anywhere in the world.

Today when you swap your paper dollar, all you get for it is another paper dollar. In some lines, it will buy about thirty cents worth of what would have bought twenty years ago. In other lines, not more than twelve cents worth.

The danger of mistaking price-rises for inflation, and vice-versa, is that when the prices fall, you then may think that inflation has been cured.

There never has been a cycle of inflation in which there were not temporary set-backs. Inflation has been described as being like a stairway—sharp rises, with level places in between. It is in these level places that the dirty work is done—it is when everyone decides the danger is over, that new inflationary pressures are turned loose.

That is the danger today. President Truman is demanding new and stronger economic controls, demanding new and bigger spending, demanding new increases in the debt which we have accumulated for future generations to pay.

THESE MEASURES ARE ALL INFLATIONARY!

If this nation was as badly scared of inflation as it ought to be, considering the danger, it would turn the President down on all scores. It would demand that he reduce government spending, not increase it; demand that the national debt be cut, not enlarged.

But with everyone basking in a sudden optimistic impression that inflation has run its course, it very likely will turn out that Congress and the people will permit the President to do the very things which will send inflation out of bounds.
